

Episode 1:

Pekkonen: Hey, how is your progress with the thesis?

Kinnunen: Not great, as is the usual I suppose. But there is at least some positive news. I managed to collect some interview data.

Pekkonen: How did that go?

Kinnunen: Well, the interviews were pretty straightforward. But before that my supervisor made me read the security policy about confidential information and instructions for research data collection. It was a pain, I tell you.

Pekkonen: Really? What was it all about?

Kinnunen: Yeah, it was about making sure participants are anonymous and storing the data somewhere secure so that only I can access. You know privacy protection and whatnot. Eventually, I ended up storing the data on my university cloud storage. You know it belongs to the university so I suppose it is secure, and it is my private workspace that I have secured with a strong password. My supervisor was fine with so I think I'm in the clear.

Pekkonen: Oh good, by the way have you finished your part on the group assignment for this course, the deadline is next week.

Kinnunen: I've been busy with the thesis. I'll do it soon.

Episode 2:

Pekkonen: Hey. Tonight is the deadline for submitting our group assignment for the course. Have you managed to finish your part? If so I can submit it already.

Kinnunen: Oh, is it already tonight, I thought it was tomorrow night? That's too bad. I've already done my part but I forgot to send it to you and I don't have access to it right now.

Pekkonen: Well, what are we supposed to do now? This is a strict deadline, we can't ask for extension.

Kinnunen: I'm driving in the middle of nowhere right now and I didn't have my laptop with me. The file is on my university cloud storage so no one else has access to it.

Pekkonen: If it is on the cloud storage then maybe you can give me your username and password so that I take the file.

Kinnunen: hmmm... Could you give me a few minutes to think about it? I'll call you back.
